AMTECH USA NAMED “MICHIGAN ECONOMIC BRIGHT SPOT”

Company honored for growth in state

ROMULUS, Mich. – June 11, 2008 – AMTECH USA, a Romulus, Mich.-based consultancy specializing in helping automotive suppliers grow their Asian business, today received the “Michigan Economic Bright Spot” award from Corp! Magazine. In a ceremony held at the MSU Management Education Center in Troy, Mich., AMTECH president and CEO Eric Heard accepted the award from Corp! publisher Jennifer Kluge.

The award recognizes top companies in the state that have continued to thrive and grow in Michigan. Those receiving the award were selected based on several criteria, including at least three years of operation in Michigan, expansion of a state site or location, and profit growth during the past year.

AMTECH CEO Heard said he is honored to receive the award from Corp! Magazine. “On behalf of our hard-working team of employees, I am very pleased to accept such a prestigious award,” he said. “During challenging times in an increasingly global economy, AMTECH has managed to continue on a growth curve in Michigan that truly has benefitted our customers. Our team’s professionalism, commitment to quality, and client focus are responsible not only for our own success, but for the success of the companies we serve.”

AMTECH also is growing its presence overseas. The company announced today that it has opened a new sales and engineering office in Taiwan and is expected to open another in Hong Kong later this year.

Commenting on the new locations, Heard said: “Along with our existing Tokyo presence, these new offices will provide AMTECH clients here in Michigan and elsewhere with the resources and services required to make inroads in a very vital and important automotive market.”

About AMTECH: AMTECH USA, headquartered in Romulus, Mich., is an international consultancy engaged in assisting automotive suppliers with developing relationships with Japanese automakers and Asian parts suppliers.
